Road Show

One of Derringer Cycles's latest additions, $3,900, to its line of motorbikes took its cues from the 1935 Hughes H1 racing airplane. Company owner and designer Adrian Van Anz re-created the plane's surface, using a powder-coat technology to give the bike's body a polished aluminum finish. The wheel color and details also echo its antecedent.

Cliff Notes

The work of English ceramist Clarice Cliff is prominently featured in the collection of CARA Antiques (www.carantiques.com; 215-499-5604), a Pennsylvania dealer. Among the works by Cliff is a 1929-30 vase, $4,900, with a double V motif.

Nailed Down

Each vintage-leather-covered five-drawer Mayfair steamer chest, $2,295, from Restoration Hardware (www.restorationhardware.com; 800-950-9836) is unique, though all boast over 3,000 hand-hammered nailheads. It is also available in brushed steel.

Chairly Covered

Austin Modern (www.austinmodern.com; 512-419-0488), named for its home base in the Texas city, has an oversize 1970s chair, $1,600, made by Brown Jordan of bamboo and hand-tied rattan, with a back that terminates in a canopy.

Good Dog

In Manchester Village, Vermont, Equinox Antiques & Fine Art (www.equinoxantiques.com; 802-362-3540) is showing a circa 1855-50 painted cast-iron dalmatian, $24,000, manufactured by the Gray Iron Foundry in Poultney.
